

Attention! All Adjunct, Contingent, and Non–Tenure Track Historians

The Organization of American Historians invites you to take your rightful place in the historical community at our Annual Meeting in Providence, Rhode Island, April 7–10, 2016

Members of the 2012-2013 OAH Committee on Part-Time, Adjunct, and Contingent Employment at the 2013 Annual Meeting in San Francisco, California. Left to right: Arlene Lazarowitz, John Lloyd, Elizabeth Hohl, and Donald Rogers, chair.

Join us for:

- Stimulating historical presentations
- Receptions with historical experts
- Displays of new books in the Exhibit Hall
- A panel discussion on adjunct organizing (Sat. at 9 am)
- “Chat Room” on adjunct career options (Sat. during lunch)
- Meetings with publishers at “The Hub” (available by appointment on Sat.)

The Organization of American Historians reaches out to all members of the profession and seeks their engagement at its annual meetings. Given the rather dramatic transformation of the profession over the past couple of decades, the OAH Executive Board especially encourages the membership of our part-time, adjunct, and contingent colleagues and warmly invites their participation at our next convention, April 7–10, 2016, in Providence, Rhode Island, which will include sessions devoted to the interests of historians teaching in contingent situations.

Meet with members of the OAH CPACE committee at their table inside the Exhibit Hall

Explore the Program and Register Now at <http://www.oah.org/meetings-events/2016>

Organization of American Historians

112 N. Bryan Avenue
Bloomington, IN 47408
(812) 855-7311
oah@oah.org